

Name of service/organisation:

Care for the Family

Description:

Care for the Family is a national charity which aims to promote strong family life and to help those who face family difficulties. They provide advice and information through their website covering many aspects of family life. They also provide a befriending support line for parents of children with additional needs. This is a telephone befriending service that offers support and encouragement from other parents in similar circumstances. Befrienders are not counsellors, but will informally share from their own personal experience of being part of a family where someone has additional needs. The additional needs project also produces a quarterly e-newsletter.

Care for the Family's work was launched in 1988 and it is a registered charity. Its work is motivated by Christian compassion, and its resources and support are available to everyone, of any faith or none.

Care for the Family - Additional Needs has it's own Facebook page (<https://www.facebook.com/cffadditionalneeds>). Like the page to receive the latest updates, encouragement and peer-support from other parents of additional needs children.
