

FREE AUTISM EVENT

aimed at parents of people with autism and other complex needs

WHEN?

Thursday
19 October 2017
Starts 10.00am, finishes 3.00pm

WHERE?

York Racecourse,
Tadcaster Road,
York YO23 1EX

Are you a parent supporting a person with autism and complex needs?

We're holding a free event, led by experts who'll be able to offer a valuable insight into the challenge of ever-changing complex needs in the 21st century and what to look for in a provision.

During the relaxed and informal day, Angela and Laurence will hold a number of sessions including:

- Complex communication
- What should I look for in a provision for someone with complex needs?
- Active support – creating an ordinary life
- Total communication:
Makaton Workshop

It's a day not to be missed.

Speakers

Angela Stanton-Greenwood –
MA, M.Ed, CQSW, MCIPD

Is a Therapeutic Crisis Intervention Consultant to Cornell University in New York USA. Angela is the co-author of the TCI syllabus for individuals with a developmental disability and speaks at conferences in the UK, Ireland and USA. TCI is a behaviour support system that focuses on the meaning behind behaviour and engaging with a person in difficulty.

Laurence Stanton-Greenwood –

Is a Regional Makaton Tutor who has worked in the area of special education and care for the last 36 years. One of his specialist areas of interest is the use of Augmentative/Alternative Communication systems to support those that have difficulty with expression and /or comprehension with spoken communication or have limited or no ability to communicate verbally.

Places, including a buffet lunch, are free but you'll need to request a place via our website booking system.

BOOK NOW

www.hesleygroup.co.uk/events/york-parents-2017

HesleyGroup

Autism | Learning Disabilities | Complex Needs